

David DeVere

With over 20 years of experience as a lawyer dealing almost exclusively with personal injury litigation and medical malpractice, David has an in-depth perspective of the support and assistance sought after by families caring for a loved one with a disability. David is the proud father of three children, and husband to a fellow dedicated lawyer, also spending her time supporting her community through the non-profit organization iHuman. Outside of resolving cases and attending trial, David can be found on the golf course.
